ABOUT UNIVERSITY COLLEGE GRONINGEN

University College Groningen is a Faculty of the University of Groningen, one of the world's top 100 universities. We offer a Bachelor in Liberal Arts and Sciences, which will provide students an academic degree with a genuinely interdisciplinary outlook, freedom of choice and a collaborative and guided approach to learning in a stimulating and globally challenging environment.

Our Liberal Arts and Sciences programme offers students the opportunity to study a broad range of subjects whilst developing specialist knowledge in their major discipline (Humanities, Sciences, Social Sciences). Throughout the degree students will work in interdisciplinary teams on a series of projects that take them outside of the classroom. This will enable students to learn how to apply a creative approach in finding solutions for complex global challenges.

GOOD TO KNOW

PROJECT BASED LEARNING

Projects provide the context for experiential learning. Here, existing and new scholarship is applied to practical situations, using collaborative problem-solving skills. In so doing, students make sense of the world and their role within it.

UCG is the only University College in the Netherlands to require students to work on interdisciplinary projects throughout their bachelor studies. Projects are a special type of course in which students are curiosity-driven scholars. In projects, students collaborate with faculty and experts to tackle real-world issues. Studying at UCG is about creating enduring and meaningful experiences rather than memorising - and forgetting - facts.

HOUSING

UCG offers accommodation in the student house Frascati.

COURSES

It is also possible to request courses from some of the other faculties. You can consult the Course catalogue here, but it is not yet known what the actual restrictions will be.

The students are advised to have several back-up courses since all the courses are subject to capacity constraints and other prerequisites.
