ABOUT UNIVERSITY COLLEGE ROOSEVELT

University College Roosevelt was founded in 2004 as part of Utrecht University. This name encompasses three core features that make us a unique place within modern education. First, we are a University, a place that offers a Liberal Arts and Sciences program of high quality with nearly 200 courses, which allows students to continue top Master programs all over the world. Second, we are a College, indicating a small and tight-knit community consisting of 500 students and dedicated Faculty and Staff, with a residential inner-city campus and an active student body. Third, we are named after the Roosevelt family. As such, we seek to foster and strengthen the fundamental values concerning global citizenship as formulated by Theodore, Franklin, and Eleanor Roosevelt.
